

Juan Antonio Garcia-Velasco, MD, PhD

Director, IVI Madrid, Spain

Coordinator, Nova IVI Fertility and IVI Middle East

Professor of Obstetrics and Gynecology, Rey Juan Carlos University, Madrid, Spain

Training:

1984-1990. Medical degree, Complutense University, Madrid, Spain

1992-1995. Ob/Gyn residency, La Paz Hospital, Madrid, Spain

1997-1998. Fellowship in Reproductive Endocrinology and Infertility. Yale University, USA

1999. PhD degree in Medicine. Autonoma University, Madrid, Spain.

Clinical activity:

Fellow at Yale University.

Faculty at IVI from 1995-today

Director IVI Madrid from 1999-today.

Teaching activity:

Full Professor of Obstetrics and Gynecology at Rey Juan Carlos University

Director of the Master in Human Reproduction

Director of the University Expert in Nursing in Human Reproduction

Merits and Service:

Spanish Fertility Society (1999 y 2009)

Spanish Ob/Gyn Society (1997)

ESHRE (2011)

Board Member of the Spanish Fertility Society (2006-2010)

Member of the Advisory Committee at ESHRE

Member of the Publications Committee at ESHRE

Deputy Coordinator of the Special Interest Group in Endocrinology at ESHRE

Scientific Activity:

200 peer reviewed articles, 32 book chapters and 5 books edited.

Co-Editor of Reproductive Biomedicine Online

Editor of Cuadernos de Medicina Reproductiva

PI of several research projects funded by the Ministry of Health and Ministry of Education

@JuanchoGVelasco